

During extreme cold weather, you may be concerned about water pipes freezing. One way to help avoid freezing pipes is to run a small amount of water through them by leaving a faucet dripping. However, please be aware that the homeowner is responsible for water usage in this way.

For more tips on preventing frozen water pipes, please visit the American Red Cross' page, or you can research more online.